EDITORIAL

What is past is prologue. What is today is tomorrow's history. Don't really know where this couplet came from or even if its not just a figment of my imagination. Actual source is of little consequence. What is important is the message. We have talked long and strong about the first sentence as regards the very reason for our existence as a committee. We need to continue to build our knowledge of the past so that we can capitalize on our successes and avoid our failures as we continue to dwell on this segment. Let's for a short period of time focus on the now of history.

How often have you heard the statement, "I had one of those and threw it away"? Bad words to the historian's ear! But, what are we as individuals doing on a day to day basis to preserve our heritage and to encourage others to do so? I hope a lot. My hopes notwithstanding we need to emphasize the preservation of the NOW. We need to do it on an organized basis. I truthfully think that most of us on the committee have learned over the past two or three years of intensive work to preserve for future historians. However, we're few in number. What is needed now is to preform a bit of missionary work with our CAP contacts. Talk history every chance you get, prove its value to the leaders you come in contact with and most of all whet the curiosity of our newer members. Start urging others not only to come up with the often sought memorabilia of the past but to start the organized preservation of history for future historians.

ABOUT THE COVER

Having only recently being awarded his Master Observers Wings, I'm not really sure what Lee had in mind when he drew up this month's cover. Could it be a self portrait of a typical right seater? I doubt it, those of us who know Lee fully appreciate his intensive nature and know he would never cut "Z's" at an inappropriate time. Lee's story is that shortly after he joined CAP he was in the back seat when the incident occurred. At any rate it is a nice cartoon and does make an excellent cover for our journal.

PUBLISH OR PERISH

History did quite well in the January "News". Two features and our "Historical Notes" speak well for the fine help we're getting from the editor.

Just received from the printer, bound copies of our second finalized Oral History Interview. This one was with George Haddaway. A rough idea of its contents is covered by the attached extracts. I think it is really a significant one. Unfortunately, expenses precludes the automatic distribution of its 50 or so pages. However, should you want a copy of it let me know and I will send it to you. Also just back from the printer is "Historical Document Indexing" which was discussed in our last Newsletter. It is intended that this indexing method be used as the standard filing system both at National Headquarters and at the Albert F. Simpson Historical Research Center. For consistency, subordinate units will be encouraged to utilize it for their Historical filing with special emphasis on Region and Wing Historical Files. I am enclosing copies of this index for Lib, Lee, and Merie for use with their wing files. Others desiring a copy need only to ask for it.

RECORD ACCUMULATION

Many individual items are in various states of completion as pertains to organizing and indexing for insertion in the archives. The only really significant item completed was the indexing and collating of all operations reports from May of 1942 thru November of 1945. A copy of the indices for these reports is attached for your copy of "A Compilation of Indices".

Am really bogged down at present time trying to index and accumulate 1942-1943 rules. Haven't fully identified the "holes" so can't ask for specific help at this time but will be needing shortly. Next I plan on moving to early regulations. Here I need some help in that I have no early copies of CAPR 0-2 and 0-9 (indices), so if you have any early 0-2's and 0-9's laying around, copies will be appreciated

MECHANIZATION PROJECTS

Failed to mention in last month's Newsletter that Axel has something in the mill. How about giving us all a fill in, Axel?

On the local scene I have finally been able to account for all 524 Air Medals awarded for Coastal Patrol Service. Unfortunately temporary program bugs prevent including a copy of the output. About ready to try EX-LAX next as to date normal procedures have failed to produce desired results. Am currently scheduled to attend a seminar entitled "Using Microcomputers In Archives" at University of Texas in March and will share with all what I'm exposed to (NOTE: I did not say learned).

As mentioned in last months Newsletter, Louisa is hard at work compiling an accurate study of command at all levels of the organization down to Wing. A sample of her output is attached for your review. I say sample since I counted 67 pages of output which she recently sent me. When you consider the literally thousands of pieces of paper reviewed and condensed you can only then appreciate the tremendous effort she has put forth. Also attached is a copy of her 15 December 1983 appeal for help. Start digging, anyone working as hard as Louisa is, deserves all the help we can give her.

GOALS

Status is reflected by attached status reports. Apologies to non-committee members who can't fully comprehend what's going on since they don't have goal books. After all, any organization needs a few "trade secrets".

SUMMARY OF CONTENTS

In this oral history interview, Mr. George E. Haddaway relates his early experiences in the establishment of the Civilian Pilot Training program. Because of his unique background as a professional, well travelled journalist his observation on the country's state of preparedness prior to World War II are quite significant. He continues with his early association with Gill Robb Wilson and his personal role in the establishment of Civil Air Patrol in Texas. Haddaway places considerable emphasis on his statement of fact that patrol missions were flown in the Gulf prior to the official "first flight" from CP 10 on July 7, 1942.

By means of two examples of the acquisition of a link trainer and a life raft, Haddaway illustrates the difficulties in building up his base at Beaumont and equipping it for safe and efficient operations. He very graphically recounts the loss of pilots involved and explores it's impact on the morale of other personnel.

Haddaway's reflections on the relative worth of Coastal Patrol Operations are of considerable interest to those involved in the study of the history of World War II.

SUBJECT: Documentation of Information Concerning Region & Wing Commanders.

TO: All Concerned.

1. Attached is a sample sheet of information as being input to IBM Personal Computer. Listed are:
 - a. The names and dates provided by National Headquarters DPH.
 - b. The source document, date, name, action and (if given) effective date of the action, of each appointment and promotion for which the source document has been located.
 - c. Blank lines are left to fill in data known to be missing from the listings.
2. The second enclosure is a record of those documents concerning NEB, NB and NEC meetings which are currently available. Record covers only the period before 1961. Minutes since that time through mid-1983 are fairly complete in available files.
3. Desired documents include, in order of desirability:
 - a. NEB-NEC-NB minutes or agendas.
 - b. Personnel Actions, General Orders, Personnel Orders.
 - c. Weekly Bulletins or other official publications, provided effective dates are included.
4. In some cases, valuable information can be obtained when a prior date, indicating length of time in grade or in a position, is given to substantiate an individual's qualification for promotion or advancement, for example, six months as Acting Commander before appointment as Commander, or one year as Temporary Colonel to qualify as Permanent Colonel. Agendas are apt to include this information.
5. Any missing documents covering the period prior to 25 February 1961 will be sincerely appreciated. Only copies of material concerning appointment and promotion of National Board Members is sought at this time.
